

WRONG KEY

Q.10. The unit of electric energy is ..... option:

The answer key: All of the above No:4 Joule and Kilowatt-hour are the units.watt-second is the unit of power. Hence No: 4 is wrong.

Q.12. An electrolytic capacitor can be used for.....

The answer key: 1 DC only.Explanation: There are electrolytic capacitor which are working in AC and also in DC. Hence the correct answer is (3) both AC & DC.

Q.18. Which of the following cannot actually move?

Answer Key: 3 (Holes)

Explanation : The option (2) irons consists of negative iron and positive iron which are immovable. Hence option (2) irons is the correct answer.

Q. 37. The modulation techniques used to convert analog signal into digital signal are-----

Answer key: (4) All of these

Explanation : (1) Pulse code modulation is the correct answer. Delta modulation (2) and adaptive delta is out of syllabus position.

Q.41. Which is not computer classification?

Answer Key: (1) Main frame.

Explanation: The correct answer is (2) maxframe.

Q.42. Which of the following is a storage device?

Answer Key: (1) Tape

Explanation:The correct answer is (4) all of these.

Q.44. MICR stands for

Answer Key: (3) Magnetic ink cases reader

Explanation: The correct answer is (1) Magnetic ink character reader.

Q.45. Computer system consists of the following major units

Answer Key: (1) Input units, Output units and control units.

Explanation:Option (2) input unit, output unit, control units and storage unit is the correct answer.

Q.47. ASCII stand for?

Answer Key: (3) American standard code for intelligence interchange.

Explanation: The correct answer is (1) American standard code for information interchange. This is also an out of syllabus question.

Q.50. A computer consists of

Answer Key: (1) A central processing unit.

Explanation: The correct answer is (4) All of these.